

NATIONAL GUARDS SENT TO THE BORDER

President Wilson Calls Out Guardsmen of Texas, Arizona and New Mexico to Assist in Guarding the International Boundary Line.

Secretary Lansing Says Border Residents Will Be Protected From Further Bandit Raids.

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Washington, May 9.—President Wilson has called out militia of Texas, Arizona and New Mexico, for border duty.

Secretary Lansing issued a statement, following the order that the militia would report to General Funston for border patrol duty and that two more regiments of regular infantry had been ordered to the border, increasing the line forces by approximately 7,000 men, 4,000 guardsmen and 3,000 regulars.

"Such further arrangements will be made as are necessary for the complete security of the people of the United States against raids of the character of the Big Bend raid," said Lansing.

Special Agent Rodgers at Mexico City today telegraphed the State Department that General Obregon has indicated his approval of a protocol with the United States, which is practically complete and in the hands of Generals Scott and Obregon.

Seven American employees of Mexican mines near Boquillas and Dr. Homer Powers, of Texas, are either captives in the hands of the Villa bandits who raided Glenn Springs, and are being held for ransom, or have been killed, it was reported in Marathon, Texas, today.

A rancher, who escaped, brought the information.

Later, it was reported that Dr. Powers had escaped from his captors.

Practically all remaining mobile troops of the regular army have now been ordered to join the border forces, bringing approximately 8,000 additional troops under General Funston's command.

Behind the order is seen the plain intimation by Administration officials that the whole strength of the National Guard will be similarly employed if necessary.

It was learned authoritatively today that General Obregon had refused to sign a protocol agreement approved by President Wilson.

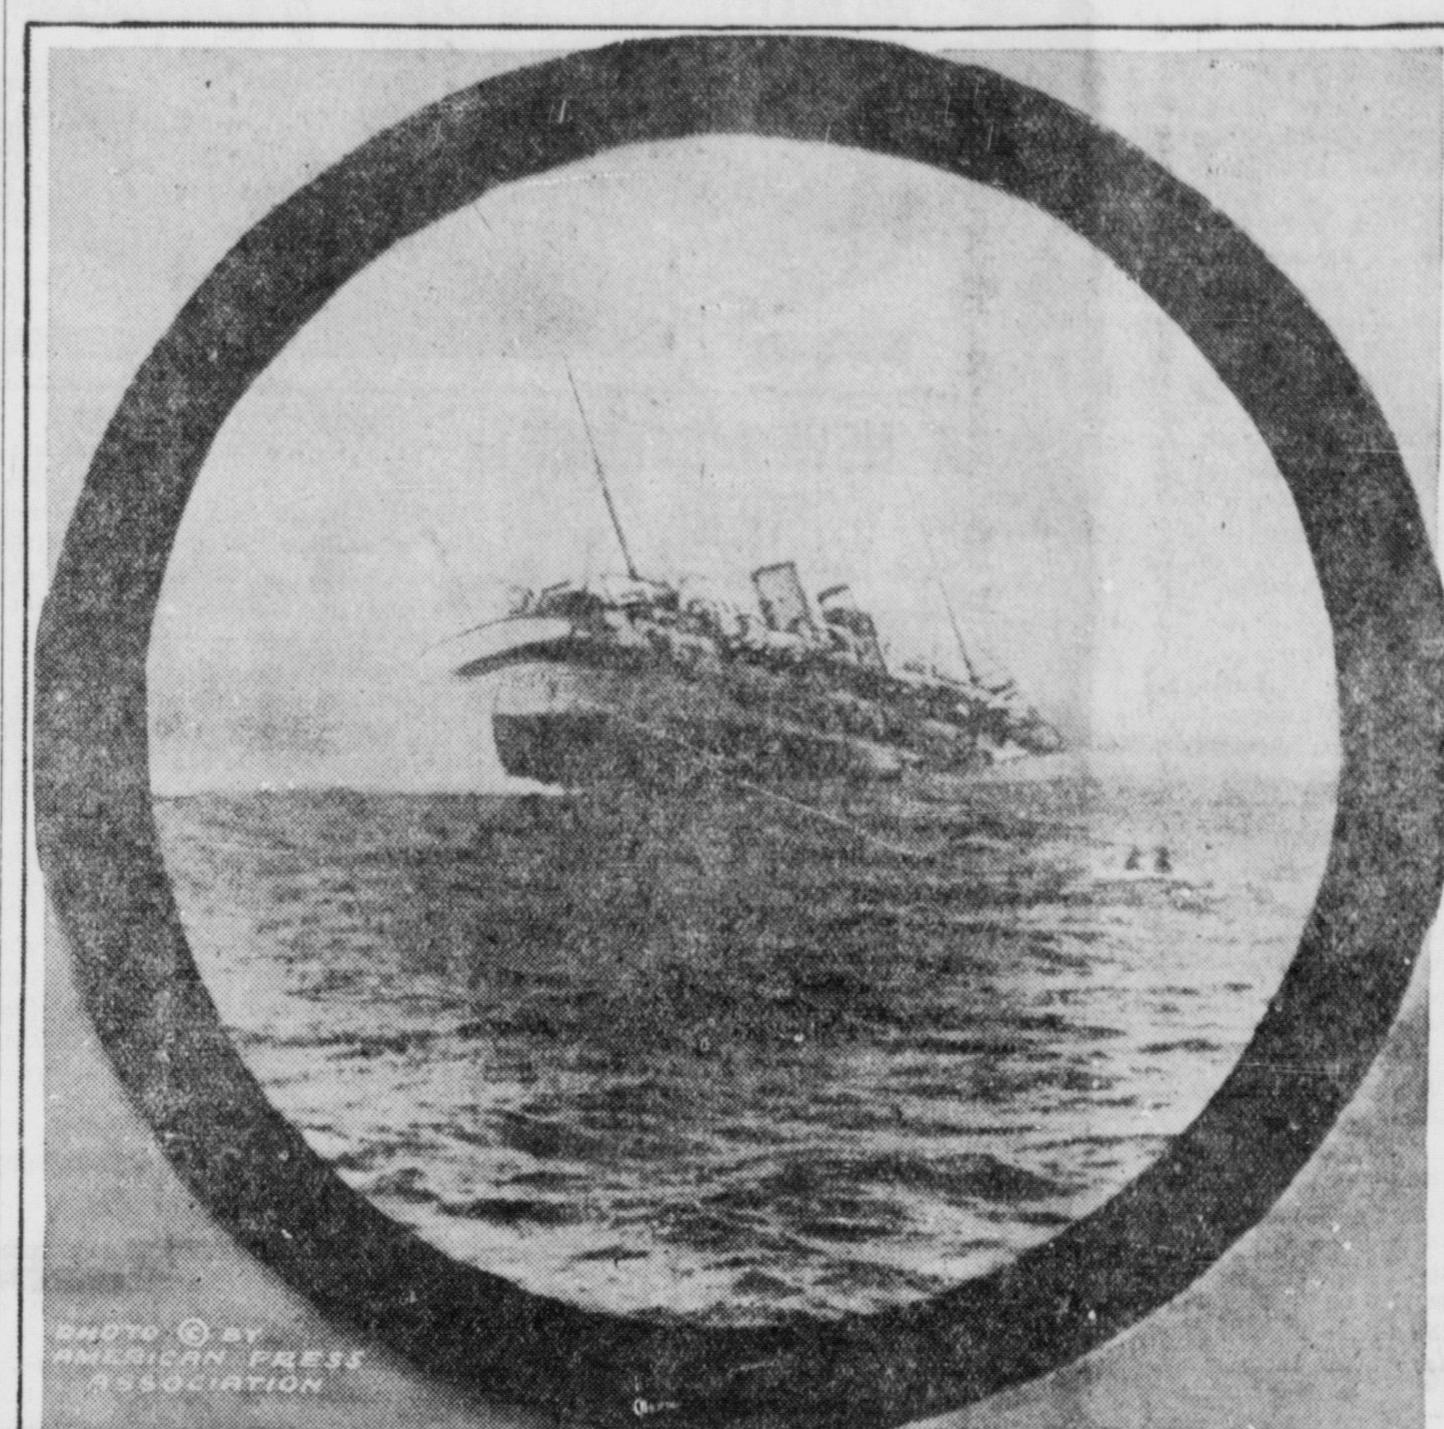

It was said that General Obregon has delayed signing the tentative agreement because the American conferees will not set a definite date for withdrawal of General Pershing's forces.

Arrangements were made for another conference late Tuesday, when an agreement was hoped for.

CYMRIC IS SUNK BY TORPEDO

White Star Liner Goes to the Bottom This Morning at 3 O'clock, Off Fastnet Coast.

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Washington, May 9.—The White Star liner Cymric sank at 3 o'clock this morning 138 miles off the Fastnet coast, Ireland, carrying a large cargo of war munitions down, after wallowing in the Atlantic ocean for eleven hours with a German torpedo wound in her hull, United States Consul Frost, Queenstown, today officially reported.

His report states that the Cymric was torpedoed presumably without warning, at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Five of her crew of 107 were killed by the explosion, and the rest abandoned the ship before she sank.

The survivors are now making for Banty in lifeboats. None of the crew were American.

The Cymric was converted into a freighter for war use, carried no passengers and was bound from New York to Liverpool.

New York, May 9.—Denial was made today at the offices of the White Star Line that the liner Cymric was in the service of the British Admiralty.

She carried no guns and was simply an ordinary merchant steamer, said the statement.

GIGANTIC ATTEMPTS AT VERDUN

Bombardment of Unprecedented Violence Directed Against Fortress Followed By Attacks in Mass—No Progress Made Paris Asserts.

(Associated Press Cable)

What seems to be the most determined effort yet made by the Crown Prince's forces to break through and capture Verdun is now in progress.

Heavy guns are persistently pounding the defenses of the fortress, and bombardments of unprecedented violence are being followed up by attacks in great force.

After their initial success at Hill 304, however, the Germans have failed to make progress, according to Paris, which announces the complete repulse of an assault on Hill 304 at 3 o'clock this morning.

East of the Meuse, the French have again been counter attacking and have succeeded in winning back ground from the Germans—more than was taken at the beginning of the new drive.

Intense artillery activity is under way east and southeast of Verdun.

At Bolante, in the Argonne, the French captured two small German posts and killed all the occupants.

A Reuter dispatch from Cairo says that two hostile aeroplanes dropped bombs on Port Said Monday morning, three civilians being wounded.

LAST NOTE NEEDS NO ANSWER

German Circles Are of Opinion That Imperial Government Will Not Make Reply to the Last Note.

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Washington, May 9.—America's latest note to Germany on the submarine controversy had gone forward today, and Administration officials were interested in knowing whether Germany would make reply.

It was intimated in German circles that the Imperial Government might not consider an answer necessary.

The text of the note, made public last night, shows that the United States accepts the German promise that submarine warfare in the future will be altered to conform with recognized rules of international law.

Secretary Lansing gave out a statement saying he considered Germany had "yielded to our representations" and that "we can have no reason to quarrel with her so long as the altered submarine policy is not violated."

The note insists, however, that Germany must not consider her respect for rights of American citizens on the high seas contingent on the conduct of any other belligerent, with whom the United States may be negotiating.

OHIO GUARDS EXPECT CALL

Adjutant General's Office Keeping in Close Touch With Washington.

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Columbus, O., May 9.—Adjutant General Hough's office was kept in close touch with developments in the Mexican situation today, notification by wire being received from Washington that the National Guard of three border states had been called out for patrol duty.

Though guard officials predicted troops from other states would be added to the regulars and guardsmen already on the border, it was said no instruction had been received to have all in readiness for a quick mobilization of Ohio guardsmen.

"Our troops are the best equipped and regarded as efficient as any in the entire guard; and very likely, if any more state forces are called out, we will have a taste of border duty," said an attache of the Adjutant General's office.

WEST AGAINST THE EAST

House Approves Substitute Offered For Senate Provision For Erection of Nitrate Plant—Government Ownership Aspect of Project Enlarged. How the Buckeye Representatives Lined Up.

Washington, May 9.—The house rejected senate amendments to the army bill. The proposals to empower the president to raise the standing army to 250,000 men in time of peace and to raise a federal volunteer army of 261,000 were rejected flatly by votes of 221 to 142 and 251 to 109, respectively.

A substitute for the senate provision for the erection of a nitrate plant was approved. This authorizes the president to determine the most economical means of making nitrates and authorizes $20,000,000 for the erection of a plant. Surplus nitrates not required by the army and navy may be disposed of to farmers in the form of fertilizer, enlarging the government ownership aspect of the undertaking.

The voting as well as the debate on the important points of disagreement between the two houses indicated strong sectional differences of opinion among members of the house as to the degree of preparedness demanded by the existing situation and the methods by which it is to be achieved.

Democrats from the states on the Atlantic seaboard, particularly the Tammany members, in many instances voted for the larger army and the volunteer army. Republicans from the interior states just as generally stood against them.

The existing international situation, the prospect of further difficulties in Mexico, and the possibility of foreign entanglements arising out of the American protectorate over Latin-American countries and the maintenance of the Monroe doctrine, all urged as reasons for the larger army, failed to change materially the alignment of the house on preparedness.

On the vote to increase the standing army to 250,000 men the Ohio delegation divided as follows:

For the increase—Emerson, Kearns and Russell; total 3.

Against the increase—Ashbrook,

Cooper, Crosser, Fess, Gard, Gordon Hollingsworth, Key, McCulloch, Matthews, Overmyer, Ricketts and Sherwood; total 13.

The Hope for Peace

That the Washington government has accepted the last German note promising an abandonment of its former method of submarine warfare as satisfactory and that President Wilson has already dispatched a note to Berlin assuring Germany that so long as the new instructions, given to submarine commanders, are obeyed diplomatic relations will not be severed is cheering news to the people of the United States.

It means that the events of the past will not be the cause of a break in the friendly relations existing between the two nations. It means that unless there are further overt acts committed that another great Christian nation will not be plunged into war. It means that the world's confusion will not be increased.

Other bright rays of hope which pierce the clouds of war in which so great a portion of the civilized world has been enveloped, are the plain indication which the diplomats of this country and of Holland see in the reference to Great Britain in the last German note. Able, far-seeing men, skilled in the language of diplomacy have discovered in the note Germany's expression of a hope for peace.

Rome, too, discovered the offer and Pope Benedict has been importuned to use his best endeavors to bring peace to Europe.

There are rumors which warrant the hope that President Wilson and the heads of other great nations are seriously considering the formation of a proposal which will bring about a conference to arrange peace terms, if indeed, having concluded that the time to act has arrived, a definite plan has not already been agreed upon.

The outlook is brighter for peace than at any time since the flames of war burst forth.

The General Conference

The general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, which has been in session at Saratoga Springs, New York, has been wrestling with some tremendous problems in church work and church organization.

A very comprehensive plan designed to increase the efficiency of the church workers in the field of foreign missions has been submitted and, it is expected, will be adopted before the conference adjourns.

Bishops of the church in foreign lands have appealed to the church for help. Attention has been directed to the fact that the great European war has very measurably handicapped their work during the last year, but at the same time the statement has been made to the church authorities that after the close of the conflict in Europe the opportunity for and the need of work will be pressing.

Some rather radical changes in the ritual and in the church service have been advocated and adopted. These, however, come up at almost every general conference session.

In enlarging the sphere of action and providing ways and means to meet contingencies which have arisen and promise to arise in the near future the conference has gone about its work in a thoroughly practical and business like manner which is certain to produce results.

More Border Guards

The raid made by Mexican bandits, be they Villa followers or the associated murderers under the direction of some other arch fiend, across the international boundary line and the attack on Glenn Springs, Texas, emphasize the imperative need of a much larger number of soldiers for border patrol duty.

With the Mexican country—especially that portion of it that touches the boundary line—infested with bandits, lying in wait for an opportunity to cross the line and murder the lone guardsmen and the defenseless ranchmen, sending to the border for patrol duty the National Guardsmen of one or two of the larger states even would serve to prevent a repetition of the Columbus, N. M., and the Glenn Springs horrors.

This nation has the men and the means to guard the border effectually and it should do it and do it in a way that will insure against rather than invite attack.

In the present desperate, starving condition of the Mexican peons and their ignorant hatred of the American people, their contempt for the soldiers of the United States, a small armed force on the border serves but to increase the danger of the residents of that section and exposes the handful of soldiers to attack. A formidable border patrol would compel a wholesome respect and inspire a feeling of awe among the lawless Mexicans that would guarantee the preservation of order without the necessity of killing.

Poetry For Today

THE VAGABOND.

Give me the life I love,
Let the lave go by me,
Give the jolly heavens above
And byway nigh' me.
Bed in the bush with stars to see,
Bread I dip in the river—
There's the life for a man like me,
There's the life forever.

Let the blow fall soon or late,
Let what will be o'er me;
Give the face of the earth around,
And the road before me.
Wealth I seek not, hope nor love,
Nor a friend to know me;
All I seek, the heaven above
And the road below me.

Or let autumn fall on me
Where afield I linger,
Silencing the bird on tree,
Biting the blue finger.
White as meal the frosty field—
Warm the fireside haven—
Not to autumn will I yeild,
Not to winter even!

Let the blow fall soon or late,
Let what will be o'er me;
Give the face of the earth around,
And the road before me.
Wealth I ask not, hope nor love,
Nor a friend to know me;
All I ask, the heaven above
And the road below me.

THE WORD "JEHOVAH."

Its Curious Origin Which, by the Way, Is Comparatively Modern.

An interesting feature in "The Old Testament in the Light of Today," by William Frederic Bade, professor of Old Testament literature and Semitic languages in the Pacific Theological seminary, is the following explanation of the word "Jehovah."

"The name 'Jehovah' is of recent origin. It was quite unknown in antiquity. As G. F. Moore has shown, it occurs for the first time sporadically in the fourteenth century. The word arose in a peculiar way. Until some centuries after the Christian era the text of the Hebrew Scriptures was written with consonants only. The name of the deity therefore was written with the four consonants 'Jvhv.' As Hebrew ceased to be a spoken tongue, words written consonantly began to present difficulties to readers. This fact led to the invention of systems of vowel points, which were written under and above the consonants.

Long before the invention of vowel points it had become customary, on account of dread of the name of the deity, to read 'Adonay' (Lord) whenever 'Jvhv' occurred. To indicate this fact the vowels of 'Adonay' were connected with the consonants 'Jvhv,' the short 'A' of 'Adonay' by a regular change becoming 'e' when connected with the consonant 'J.' Persons ignorant of the purpose of the vowels began to read them with the consonants, and thus the preposterous hybrid 'Je-Ho-Vah' arose."

TANLAC'S GOOD NAME VALUABLE

Thousands of Men and Women Are Daily Testifying to Merits.

A good reputation is the best thing in life, and a good reputation is worth as much to a medicine as it is to an individual.

The truth of this is clearly brought out by the fact that business men, professional men, artisans and women in all walks of life whose common practical judgment guides them in all acts and conclusions, are daily testifying to the merits of Tanlac.

"Tanlac" has become a household word. Its success is unprecedented and its fame is based very solidly on its accomplishments in nearly two millions of homes. Tanlac is nature's own remedy. It is purely a vegetable compound, made from roots, herbs, flowers and barks. The ingredients for this wonderful remedy are gathered in the remotest parts of the world. From the far north woods to Argentine, below the equator; in Russian Asia, the Alps, Pyrenees, on the sunny shores of Italy. From Brazil, Sumatra, Peru, the West Indies, and the slopes of our own timber-topped Rocky Mountains come the ingredients that under the personal direction of the noted chemist, Joseph Von Trimbach, are compounded into Tanlac.

Tanlac acts like magic against stomach trouble, gas fermentation, dizziness, bloating, and heavy distressed feeling after meals. It attacks poisons in the blood, corrects diseased conditions of the liver and kidneys and restores them to normal condition.

Tanlac works wonders where men and women suffer from catarrhal troubles, which may be indicated by any one of the following symptoms: coughing of mucous, offensive breath, dizziness, loss of flesh, ringing in the head or ears, headaches, pains in the side or stomach regions, indigestion, bloating of the stomach, constipation, or dyspepsia.

Tanlac is an invigorant, appetizer, tonic and builder of tissues. It cleanses the entire system of wastes and vitalizes the blood and brings back color to the cheeks and sparkle to the eyes.

Tanlac is now being especially introduced in Washington C. H. at Blackmer & Tanquary's where the Tanlac Man daily explains its merit to hundreds of men and women.

English and French.

It is truly a graceful speech, the French tongue. Plain, homely things of life, so bald and bare and disheartening in the Anglo-Saxon, are less unlovely in the French. Indeed, the French word for "rags" is so pretty that we have conferred chiffon on one of our daintiest fabrics. But in the grace of the language lies also its weakness. It does not rise to the supreme utterances. I have been reading the Bible texts on the tombstones in the little cemetery of Chardonnes. "L'Eternal est mon berger" can never rank in loftiness with "The Lord is my shepherd," nor "Que votre coeur ne trouble point" with "Let not your heart be troubled." —Baltimore Ameri-can.

MARK TWAIN'S PILOT DAYS.

A Taste For Fine Clothes and a Plunge Into Languages.

Old pilots of that day remembered Samuel Clemens as a slender, fine looking man, well dressed, even dandified, generally wearing blue serge, with fancy shirts, white duck trousers and patent leather shoes. A pilot could do that, for his surroundings were speckless.

The pilots regarded him as a great reader—a student of history, travels and the sciences. In the association rooms they often saw him poring over serious books.

He began the study of French one day in New Orleans when he discovered a school of languages where French, German and Italian were taught, one in each of three rooms. The price was $25 for one language or three for $50. The student was provided with a set of conversation cards for each and was supposed to walk from one apartment to another, changing his nationality at each threshold.

The young pilot, with his usual enthusiasm, invested in all three languages, but after a few round trips decided that French would do. He did not return to the school but kept the cards and added textbooks. He studied faithfully when off watch and in port, and his old river notebook, still preserved, contains a number of advanced exercises neatly written out.

CAPT. RAMSAY WILL FILED

Large Estate, With Few Exceptions, Left to Two Sons of Testator—Instrument Dated 10 Years Ago—Richard S. Ramsay Made Executor and Trustee.

The last will of the late Capt. E. A. Ramsay, bearing date of September 29, 1906, and witnessed by D. L. Worthington and Add Burnett, has been filed in the probate court. The instrument makes Richard S. Ramsay trustee and executor of the will, without bond and without the necessity of appraising the estate or filing report with the Probate Court. With few exceptions the entire estate is left to his two sons, Ellis W. and Richard A. Ramsay.

After making provision for paying all indebtedness, the testator gives to his two sons, during their lifetime, the James W. Haynes farm of 299 acres in Paint township. The provision is made that should either son die his share is given to deceased's children, if any, and if no heirs be left, then one-half of the estate goes to the living son. If both should die without heirs, then the estate would go to the next of kin.

Richard S. Ramsay is named trustee to manage and control the said farm, taking one-half of the gross receipts, and after paying taxes and making necessary repairs out of the remaining half, divide between the two sons, Ellis and Richard.

The home place on the north side of Washington avenue, to both sons, also household effects in same.

To Milton C. Ramsay, a brother, is bequeathed during his lifetime, one-half of farm in Adams county, owned by testator and William W. Ramsay, and at death of Milton Ramsay, the one-half becomes the property of testator's nephews, William E. and Richard S. Ramsay, and to their heirs forever.

Milton C. Ramsay is to pay to testator's sister, the sum of $100 annually during her lifetime, or if Milton Ramsay die before the sister, then the nephews pay the amount.

All residue of the real estate, all chattels and personal property, not previously disposed of, is to be sold by executor and proceeds divided between the two sons.

NEW TRAINS ON THE B. & O.

Two New Limited Passenger Trains to Be Placed in Service on B. & O. on May 28—Will Run Daily Between Pittsburgh and Cincinnati.

Beginning May 28th two additional fast passenger trains will be added to the equipment of the B. & O. railroad for through service from Pittsburgh to Cincinnati, making one and possibly two stops between Columbus and Cincinnati, one at this city, and probably one at Wilmington, although this has not been fully determined.

The trains will run daily, making ten passenger trains on the Midland Division of the B. & O. and filling a long needed want, making it possible to leave this city at nearly any hour desired.

The train going to Cincinnati will stop in this city about 9:30 a. m., and the train for Columbus will stop in this city about 8:15 p. m., reaching Columbus about one hour later.

The trains are for quick service between the points they touch, and will be known as Royal Blue flyers, carrying several coaches chiefly chair cars.

As the B. & O. forms the shortest connecting link between Columbus and Cincinnati, it is expected that the new service will draw heavily from the through trains of the Pennsylvania railroad. With the new trains it will be possible.

The County Commissioners have agreed to construct the connecting link between this city and the Devilon road, on the Lewis pike, sometime the coming summer.

The road will be constructed with crushed stone, water bound, and will be equal to the Devalon road. This will give a continuous stretch of good pike from the paving on Paint street to the State Road on the Midway pike, and with the exception of four miles of unimproved road between the State road intersection and the Madison county line, a continuous improved road into Columbus.

Immediately after the supper a splendid program has been arranged in the main lodge room. A great treat in store for you.

Vocal and instrumental music. Both teams will put on drills. You are cordially invited to spend the evening with us.

It is expected, however, that some definite action will be taken before the visitors arrive.

The band concert, vocal and instrumental solos will be free to all, and everyone is invited.

DAMAGE SUIT OPENS WITH 60 WITNESSES

The $3,000 damage suit filed by Charles Osborn of Greenfield, against the B. & O. S. W. railroad company was begun in Common Pleas court here Monday. Over 60 witnesses have been subpoenaed for the case, which will last for two or three days. Osborn asks damages for an alleged assault made against him on a B. & O. passenger train at this city two years ago by Captain Kennedy of the B. & O. police. Counsel for Osborn is attempting to show that Captain Kennedy assaulted Osborn with only slight provocation and beat him fiercely about the head with a black jack. The assault, Osborn claims, was made on him while he was returning to Greenfield from the 1914 Farmers Festival. Attorneys Coke Doster and E. A. Tinker represent Osborn and Attorney J. P. Phillips represents the B. & O. S. W.—Chillicothe News.

FUNERAL SERVICES FAREWELL TRIBUTE

The funeral services of Capt. E. A. Ramsay, held at the residence Monday afternoon, paid high tribute to the man, for many years prominent in the world of business, to the loyal G. A. R. veteran, and to the kindly and responsive gentleman and general friend.

Representative business and professional men, the veterans of the G. A. R., and friends in all walks of life had laid aside other interests for the funeral hour and the home could not begin to hold the people.

For thirty eight years Capt. Ramsay had been manager of the Union Central Life Insurance Co., of southern Ohio and was widely recognized as one of the most successful representatives the company ever had. He was one of the first agents of the company and continued with it until his health necessitated the severing of the connection January 1st, 1912.

Rev. Frederick E. Ross, of Iron-ton, former pastor under whom Capt. Ramsay had been taken into Grace M. E. church to renew the vows of his early manhood, when he united with the church at Winchester, conducted a simple and beautiful service, assisted by the present pastor, Rev. J. Vernon Stone.

Following the reading of the memoirs by Rev. Stone, Rev. Ross made particularly appropriate and happy remarks. He prefaced his talk by saying: "When a great tree, with wide spreading branches, is cut or blown down, it leaves an open, bare space on the landscape, and when a busy life, identified with the active interests of the town, as had been Capt. Ramsay's is taken away it leaves an empty place in the community." The minister dwelt appreciatively upon the busy, usefulness of the rounded out and active life of the deceased as it reached out to interests beyond the usual narrow confines.

He also spoke feelingly of the loss of the father to the two sons and their families, referring especially to the little granddaughters to whom Capt. Ramsay had been most devoted.

Miss Edith Gardner sang with much sweetness the hymns: "Nearer My God to Thee," and "O Love That Wilt Not Let Me Go."

The floral remembrances were exceptionally lavish and beautiful, including a very handsome design from the Union Central Life Insurance Co., of Cincinnati, and the floral clock of the B. P. O. E. No. 129.

Many friends accompanied the family to the Washington cemetery for burial in the family lot.

The John M. Bell Post, Commander John Hartman, attended the services in a body and conducted their ritual for the dead at the grave.

The pallbearers were Messrs. L. W. Buckmaster of Columbus, Frank L. Stutson, Robert Howat, W. H. Dial, E. J. Light, G. L. Spragg.

Relatives who were here from a distance were the son, Mr. Ellis Ramsay, of Akron; the brother, Mr. Milton Ramsay, and wife, and Mrs. Jos. Sanders, a sister, of Winchester; Mrs. John Seaton of West Mansfield, a neice; Messrs Tom DeBruin and Add Burnett of Columbus; Mr. Will Newman, of Lancaster.

CAPT. RAMSAY WILL FILED

Large Estate, With Few Exceptions, Left to Two Sons of Testator—Instrument Dated 10 Years Ago—Richard S. Ramsay Made Executor and Trustee.

The last will of the late Capt. E. A. Ramsay, bearing date of September 29, 1906, and witnessed by D. L. Worthington and Add Burnett, has been filed in the probate court. The instrument makes Richard S. Ramsay trustee and executor of the will, without bond and without the necessity of appraising the estate or filing report with the Probate Court. With few exceptions the entire estate is left to his two sons, Ellis W. and Richard A. Ramsay.

After making provision for paying all indebtedness, the testator gives to his two sons, during their lifetime, the James W. Haynes farm of 299 acres in Paint township. The provision is made that should either son die his share is given to deceased's children, if any, and if no heirs be left, then one-half of the estate goes to the living son. If both should die without heirs, then the estate would go to the next of kin.

Richard S. Ramsay is named trustee to manage and control the said farm, taking one-half of the gross receipts, and after paying taxes and making necessary repairs out of the remaining half, divide between the two sons, Ellis and Richard.

The home place on the north side of Washington avenue, to both sons, also household effects in same.

To Milton C. Ramsay, a brother, is bequeathed during his lifetime, one-half of farm in Adams county, owned by testator and William W. Ramsay, and at death of Milton Ramsay, the one-half becomes the property of testator's nephews, William E. and Richard S. Ramsay, and to their heirs forever.

Milton C. Ramsay is to pay to testator's sister, the sum of $100 annually during her lifetime, or if Milton Ramsay die before the sister, then the nephews pay the amount.

All residue of the real estate, all chattels and personal property, not previously disposed of, is to be sold by executor and proceeds divided between the two sons.

FLUSHER WILL BE DEMONSTRATED WED.

MANY TO BEGIN PLANTING CORN

As soon as the soil becomes dry enough, a large number of Fayette county farmers expect to take up the work of planting corn and if there is no more rain during the week quite a large acreage of corn will be planted by the end of this week.

By the end of next week it is expected that thousands of acres of corn will have been planted and the work well under way.

STREET IMPROVEMENT WORK IS PROGRESSING

Street improvement work is being pushed without delay, other than that caused by rains, and the steam shovel, which was started on the east end of Paint street a few days ago, is moving along rapidly. It is expected that by next week sometime the shovel will be along the street near the school building.

On Hinde street the concrete base has been completed, and after it "cures" the asphalt will be applied.

On South Main street the work of laying the concrete base is moving forward rapidly. On Columbus avenue the work also is progressing rapidly.

WILL BUILD LEWIS PIKE THIS SUMMER

The County Commissioners have agreed to construct the connecting link between this city and the Devilon road, on the Lewis pike, sometime the coming summer.

The road will be constructed with crushed stone, water bound, and will be equal to the Devilon road. This will give a continuous stretch of good pike from the paving on Paint street to the State Road on the Midway pike, and with the exception of four miles of unimproved road between the State road intersection and the Madison county line, a continuous improved road into Columbus.

FUNERAL SERVICES FAREWELL TRIBUTE

The funeral services of Capt. E. A. Ramsay, held at the residence Monday afternoon, paid high tribute to the man, for many years prominent in the world of business, to the loyal G. A. R. veteran, and to the kindly and responsive gentleman and genial friend.

Representative business and professional men, the veterans of the G. A. R., and friends in all walks of life had laid aside other interests for the funeral hour and the home could not begin to hold the people.

For thirty eight years Capt. Ramsay had been manager of the Union Central Life Insurance Co., of southern Ohio and was widely recognized as one of the most successful representatives the company ever had.

He was one of the first agents of the company and continued with it until his health necessitated the severance of the connection January 1st, 1912.

Rev. Frederick E. Ross, of Iron-ton, former pastor under whom Capt. Ramsay had been taken into Grace M. E. church to renew the vows of his early manhood, when he united with the church at Winchester, conducted a simple and beautiful service, assisted by the present pastor, Rev. J. Vernon Stone.

Following the reading of the memoir by Rev. Stone, Rev. Ross made particularly appropriate and happy remarks. He prefaced his talk by saying: "When a great tree, with wide spreading branches, is cut or blown down, it leaves an open, bare space on the landscape, and when a busy life, identified with the active interests of the town, as had been Capt. Ramsay's is taken away it leaves an empty place in the community." The minister dwelt appreciatively upon the busy, usefulness of the rounded out and active life of the deceased as it reached out to interests beyond the usual narrow confines.

He also spoke feelingly of the loss of the father to the two sons and their families, referring especially to the little granddaughters to whom Capt. Ramsay had been most devoted.

Miss Edith Gardner sang with much sweetness the hymns: "Nearer My God to Thee," and "O Love That Wilt Not Let Me Go."

The floral remembrances were exceptionally lavish and beautiful, including a very handsome design from the Union Central Life Insurance Co., of Cincinnati, and the floral clock of the B. P. O. E. No. 129.

Many friends accompanied the family to the Washington cemetery for burial in the family lot.

The John M. Bell Post, Commander John Hartman, attended the services in a body and conducted their ritual for the dead at the grave.

The pallbearers were Messrs. L. W. Buckmaster of Columbus, Frank L. Stutson, Robert Howat, W. H. Dial, E. J. Light, G. L. Spragg.

Relatives who were here from a distance were the son, Mr. Ellis Ramsay, of Akron; the brother, Mr. Milton Ramsay, and wife, and Mrs. Jos. Sanders, a sister, of Winchester; Mrs. John Seaton of West Mansfield, a niece; Messrs Tom DeBruin and

WHAT'S DOING

Von Buelow May Be Sent to the United States.

London, May 9.—Prince Bernhard Von Buelow, the former imperial German chancellor, is looming large on the political horizon of Europe. He is now speeding in a special train toward the great general army headquarters in the field, in response to a hasty call from the kaiser who has bidden him, it is reported, to a personal interview "of extreme importance." The prince has been the greater part of the past year in Switzerland.

Three theories are advanced with reference to the possible purpose of the conference between the kaiser and the hero of the famous "kaiser cross" of 1908. They are:

First—That Prince Von Buelow is to take over the governmental reigns of the empire by resuming his former office of imperial chancellor, succeeding Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollweg.

Second—That he is to be entrusted with an important mission in behalf of bringing about an opening for peace negotiations with the allies, probably through the medium of a neutral power.

Third—That he is to be sent to the United States on a special mission from the kaiser to President Wilson to pave the way for a complete and permanent settlement of the U-boat controversy.

In connection with the last theory, it is also suggested that the prince may go to Washington as German ambassador to the United States, it being pointed out in some quarters that Count Von Bernstorff's position has become somewhat embarrassing during the long course of the submarine controversy.

THE IDEA REJECTED

Will Not Discuss British Blockade With Germany.

ACCEPTS BERLIN'S PLEDGE

Note Cabled to Imperial Government Declares That the United States Accepts Its Declaration of Abandonment of Former Submarine Policy. Secretary Lansing Explains Why Blockade Can Not Be Discussed.

Washington, May 9.—Acceptance of Germany's declaration of abandonment of illegal submarine warfare and rejecting the suggestion that the United States regard this abandonment as conditional upon Great Britain's action with respect to the blockade, was the substance of a note President Wilson dispatched to the imperial government.

The note is courteous in tone, but firm and definite. It is intended to remove all doubt on the part of the imperial government as to the position the United States has taken.

Secretary Lansing issued the following statement explaining why the United States can not discuss matters pertaining to the relations between this government and Great Britain with the imperial government:

"The greater part of the German answer is devoted to matters which this government can not discuss with the German government. The only question of right which can be discussed with that government are those arising out of its action or out of our own, and in no event those questions which are the subject of diplomatic exchanges between the United States and another country. The essence of the answer is that Germany yields to our representations with regard to the rights of merchant ships and noncombatants on the high seas, and engages to observe the recognized rules of international law governing naval warfare in using her submarines against merchant ships. So long as she lives up to this altered policy we can have no reason to quarrel with her on that score, though the losses resulting from the violation of American rights by German submarine commanders operating under the former policy will have to be settled.

"While our differences with Great Britain can not form a subject of discussion with Germany, it should be stated that in our dealings with the British government we are acting, as we are unquestionably bound to act, in view of the explicit treaty engagements with that government. We have treaty obligations as to the manner in which matters in dispute between the two governments are to be handled. We offered to assume mutually similar obligations with Germany, but the offer was declined.

Waen, however, the subject in dispute is a continuing menace to American lives it is doubtful whether such obligations apply unless the menace is removed during the pendency of the proceedings."

The president's note to Germany, it is explained, is aimed at clearing up any misinterpretations which might arise from the indefinite language of the German reply. The president seeks to accomplish this with the statement that the United States has noted the purpose of the imperial government to impose upon submarine commanders the limitations of the recognized rules of international law, "upon which the government of the United States has insisted."

Germany in her answer agreed to follow international law, but carefully refrained from stipulating whether this was to be "international law as understood and interpreted by Germany," or "international law as understood and interpreted by the United States."

There are some radical points of difference in the way the two governments interpret international law in the present submarine controversy.

Seagrove's scheme to prevent payment for the mine is spoiled.

The car drew up before the house and stopped. "What are you going to do?" asked Helen in an undertone, "make a call here?"

"Yes," answered Rhinelander preparing to get out while a footman, running down the steps, opened the tonneau door for him. "And," he added, "I want you to come in with me."

Helen's brow furrowed a little in perplexity. "But I don't know these people," she murmured under her breath.

Rhinelander standing on the ground while the footman waited at the other side of the open tonneau door for Helen, held out his hand: "You'll find you're mistaken," he said to Helen convincingly. "You know almost everyone here. And even from those you don't know, I can promise you a genuine welcome."

"Uncle Amos," demanded Helen, hurrying with him up the flight of steps that led to the familiar vestibule, and toward which Rhinelander seemed hastening with unusual energy, "what do you mean?"

"I'll tell you what, Helen, the moment you cross the threshold."

Her maid was at her elbow and in the excitement of the little Frenchwoman, in her sparkling eyes and compressed lips—Helen read more of the great secret. She drew a deep breath and standing in the big hall, looked around: "Why," she faltered, "everything seems just as I left it. Am I dreaming?" She drew her hand faintly across her eyes. "What does this mean? These furnishings—every thing! Uncle Amos," she cried under her breath, "who lives here? What is it? What has happened?"

"Helen," he took her two hands into his own, "this is now your home just as it used to be. And your old friends are nearly all here to greet you."

A group of servants, men and women, stood at the entrance to the dining room. They were familiar faces to the agitated girl.

Tears welled into her burning eyes as she looked into the faces smiling around her.

"Annette," said Rhinelander briskly to the maid, "Miss Holmes wishes to go to her room."

Like one dazed, Helen turned toward the foot of the stairs but she did not go up. Instead, she ran impulsively to Rhinelander, threw her arms about his neck and kissed him. The ▲ Stage Accident That Inspired the Great Tragedienne.

RACHEL AT REHEARSAL.

Let me relate to you a little reminiscence which Marie Laurent gave me of Rachel (Elisa Félix) Rachel, famous French tragedienne. She said that once when she was rehearsing the solvante in "Les Horaces" Rachel was distressed because she could not put sufficient expression into the curse that Camille pronounced on her brother after he had slaughtered her lover.

While she was laboring in that attempt, "getting dryer every moment," as she herself expressed it, an iron vise that was being turned at rapid pace by a large screw caught a finger of one of the stage mechanics and crushed it till the blood ran down. Every one screamed; Rachel fainted.

On recovering consciousness she said, "Some drops from the mangled finger of a stranger made me faint, yet I could look at a sword covered with the life blood of my dearest and only son." She then burst forth the famous imprecation de Camille in a way that brought every hammer on the stage to a standstill and "struck terror to us all"—Princess Lazarovich-Hrebellianovich in Century Magazine.

STRIKE ENDED 150,000 RETURN

Estimated That the Westinghouse Strike Cost Laborers $1,397,500.

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Pittsburg, May 9.—The strike of 150,000 electrical workers and shell makers of the Westinghouse Electrical Company ended today, when there was a rush of strikers to enter the plant when the gates opened.

President Herr refused demands yesterday, and informed the men that unless all employees were in their places this morning, they would lose all benefits accruing to them under the company's pension and compensation system.

It is estimated that the strike, which opened on April 22, cost the workmen $1,395,500 in wages.

FAY SENTENCED TO EIGHT YEARS

By Associated Press Dispatch.

New York, May 9.—Robert Fay, former Lieutenant in the German army, and his brother-in-law, Walter Schoiz, convicted in the federal court yesterday of conspiring to destroy munition ships of the allies through bomb contrivances, were today sentenced to eight years imprisonment each, in the federal prison at Atlanta.

WHEAT CROP IS 65 PER CENTUM OF AN AVERAGE

According to the crop report issued by the State board of Agriculture, wheat prospects are now estimated at 65 percent compared with an average, a decline of 1 percent since the report issued by this department, April 1st. The past month with its excessive cold rains has been most severe on the wheat plant. Correspondents generally note its unpromising condition and in many sections of the state a large percentage of the original area seeded will be or has been plowed up and put to other crops. The Northwest section seems to have suffered the most, the present condition being but 48 per cent of an average.

The damage reported by Hessian fly and other insects is of little consequence. As the original area seeded was below a good average and deducting from this the area that will be plowed up, Ohio's wheat harvest this year will necessarily be far below a full average crop.

The unfavorable weather of the past month has seriously retarded farm work and spring crops will go in late.

The township assessors reports that last year the oats area was 1,384,831 acres. The correspondents estimate that the area seeded to oats this year compared with last is 95 per cent or 1,320,038 acres. These figures are probably low, as no doubt many correspondents have based their estimates on the amount now sown, without considering the many fields intended for oats, but owing to the unfavorable weather conditions it has been impossible to seed. A greater part of the plowed up wheat area will be sown to oats, although if the season continues backward it will be planted to corn.

In some sections clover and alfalfa are reported as badly frozen. Live stock generally is in good condition and the losses during the winter have been very slight.

The prospects for fruit is estimated at 88 percent compared with an average. Berries 92 per cent. Many correspondents report peaches badly winter killed.

NOT A LOST CHORD.

Bach Had the Melody in Him and Just Had to Get It Out.

The Duke of Saxe-Weimar once invited John Sebastian Bach, the Nestor of German music, to attend a dinner at the palace. Before the guests sat down to the feast Bach was asked to give an improvisation. The composer seated himself at the harpsichord and straightway forgot all about dinner and everything else. He played so long that at last the duke touched his shoulder and said, "We are very much obliged, master, but we must not let the soup get cold."

Bach sprang to his feet and followed the duke to the dining room without uttering a word. But he was scarcely seated when he sprang up, rushed back to the instrument like one demented, struck a few chords and returned to the dining room, evidently feeling much better. "I beg your pardon, your highness," he said, "but you interrupted me in a series of chords and arpeggios on the dominant seventh, and I could not feel at ease until they were resolved into the tonic. It is as if you had snatched a glass of water from the lips of a man dying of thirst. Now I have drunk the glass out and am content."

FOX IN PORCH SWING.

Apparently Found Cushion Comfortable Sleeping Place.

Duarte, Cal.—When C. A. Werner opened his house the other morning he found his swinging seat occupied by a full grown fox. With the cushion for a nest the fox was resting comfortably and evidently enjoying his quarters.

When his presence became known the members of the family came trooping out to see the porch climber. Then the fox disappeared under the house, where his nature prompted him to hide until the spectators left the porch, when, finding the coast again clear, the fox gracefully jumped on the porch and into the swinging seat, and with an almost human air of comfort and satisfaction adjusted the pillow and settled down to complete the morning nap.

When again interrupted the fox disappeared and headed for the mountains.

ASK AID FOR BLIND

Call Upon American Women to Help War Victims.

PLAN TO TEACH THEM TRADES

Unceasing Activity of American People In Their Efforts to Alleviate Sufferings In Europe Has Met With Kindest of Appreciation From Abroad.

New York.—The activity of the American people in their efforts to alleviate the sufferings in Europe has resulted in the saving of the lives of many persons who were on the verge of starvation and the receiving of profound thanks from both victims and rulers of the belligerent nations. Their unceasing work will long be remembered. Money and supplies in large quantities have been sent to both sides.

One of the latest steps taken by the sympathizers of the allies is an appeal issued by the B. F. B. (British, French, Belgian) Permanent Blind Relief fund, with headquarters in this city, over the names of Lady Arthur Paget of the fund's executive committee and Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, one of the honorary secretaries, calling upon the women of America for aid. The appeal says in part:

"Thousands of wives, mothers and daughters in France, England and Belgium are speaking to you. Their husbands, brothers and sons, blinded in the war, are helpless and hopeless. They cannot see to work at their former trades. These brave, true women are now obliged to assume the entire burden of supporting them and their children, of supplying all their daily needs and of encouraging them constantly in their complete despair and continual distress.

"Unless you act these thousands of women will be condemned for the rest of their lives to an existence of hopeless drudgery and hardship.

"For humanity's sake help these European women. They are your sisters, even though you have never seen them.
